

PRESS RELEASE

For Immediate Release

A LOCAL BUSINESSWOMAN HONORED BY THE TEXAS SENATE

The Texas Senate recognized Margarita Licon, President of Licon Engineering Company, with a Senate Resolution as a role model for the City of El Paso.

Every year for Women's History Month, the El Paso Times readers nominate women who they think serve as role models in our community.

In March of 2003, the El Paso Times selected Ms. Licon as a role model. These are women who make strong impacts in their family, neighborhood and community.

Ms. Licon is the first Hispanic woman to own a geotechnical and environmental engineering consulting company in El Paso. She received a Civil Engineering Degree from the University Of Texas At El Paso in 1987 and eventually went on to earn her Masters Degree in Civil Engineering from U.T.E.P. in 1999. Upon receiving her Masters Degree in Civil Engineering, Ms. Licon chose to stay and work in El Paso. In February of 2002, Ms. Licon started Licon Engineering Company. She is married to Gerry Licon and they have three children. Licon Engineering Company is located at 149 N. Concepcion St. in El Paso.
